Kind of in order of preference, but YMMV

Amazon

Be careful buying tongs here. Some of the handles (called reins) are very short.

Blacksmith Supply

John Elliott

Good stuff. Carries Tom's tongs which generally have nice longer reins.

He frequents lots of the local Hammer In's (Blacksmith gatherings)

Well-Shod
www.well-shod.com
Again, mostly Farrier stuff.
However, they have $10 flat rate shipping, (I was ordering a box of large horse shoe nails) so the last time I ordered from them I thought, what the heck, and had them throw in a 50 pound bag of premium coal.

You can always check out Farrier (horse shoeing) sites.

If you are looking for coal, you can order bags of Nut Coal from Tractor Supply.
